

FROM THE CHAIRMAN AND CEO

FELLOW EMPLOYEES, NEIGHBORS AND SHAREHOLDERS,

At Marathon Petroleum Corporation, we're proud of what we do.

We provide fuels and other products that millions of people use every day to make their lives better. We also build and maintain wildlife habitats, donate our time and money to worthy causes in the communities where we operate, promote diversity and inclusion, and earn awards for our commitments to environmental stewardship and safety.

In this year's Citizenship Report, we're proud to report on the products we manufacture and the strong set of values we adhere to while conducting our important work.

In these pages, you'll learn how we have earned more ENERGY STAR® recognitions from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency than all other refiners in the nation combined. You'll see that we invest in emissions reductions so that we can produce the petroleum products you rely on with a smaller environmental footprint, and save money at the same time.

Our thousands of employees are not only proud of what they do, but also proud of where they live. In the communities where we operate, we are part of the social fabric. In this report, we provide just a few examples of how we make positive differences in our neighbors' lives.

We also give you insight into our governance – how our Board of Directors and executive management oversee and execute programs and processes that continually improve our performance in health, environment, safety, security, risk management, diversity and inclusion, and other areas.

This report provides you with valuable information about Marathon Petroleum Corporation, its people, and the values that help drive our success. If you have questions, comments, or would like to engage with us on any of the topics in this report, please contact us using the information on the back cover of this report.

Sincerely,

Gary R. Heminger
Chairman and Chief Executive Officer
